To the Hiring Manager,

My name is Maya Winland-Gaetz, and I am a third-year Electrical Engineering student and Canadian citizen seeking my second co-op term as an IT Support Technician at Department of National Defense, available for 4 months. As a mature student, I returned to university to pursue my passion for electronic design, and I believe my qualifications would make me an ideal fit for this role.

My most recent co-op work experience at Ocean Networks Canada was an incredible opportunity to get my feet wet in several different areas, and furnish me with some skills that would help me excel at Reach. Much of my work at ONC involved designing internal applications to help the engineering team monitor and maintain automated testing and data-collection platforms, including live reporting of telemetry over Ethernet and Moxa NPort serial-over-WiFi systems. In addition, a more hardware-centric endeavour was producing a feasibility report for the P-ONE project's power distribution module. This involved conceiving and designing a stackable relay array in Altium Designer, conferring with colleagues on DC switching and heat mitigation strategies, and ensuring robustness and isolation to ensure the system could be deployed without servicing for at least 10 years.

In a more interpersonal role, as a teaching assistant students relied on me to introduce them to new equipment, methods of chemical analysis, and software for processing their collected data. Especially in introductory courses, where some students were entering a laboratory setting for the first time, the understanding that not everybody has the same familiarity with technology that I do was certainly the approach that helped me thrive in that role for several years running.

I would be thrilled to have the opportunity to interview with you, and yet more thrilled still to be able to work at CFB Esquimalt. As my partner and several friends and family members already work on at CFB Esquimalt in a civilian capacity, I have long considered it an aspiration to join in working for the hub of Canada's western fleet.

If you are interested, I can be best reached over email, but I am also available via phone if that would work better for you. Thank you for taking the time to read my letter, and for your consideration.

I look forward to hearing from you!
Sincerely,

Maya Winland-Gaetz
